(Tune: "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms")

St. Mary's! wherever thy daughters may be
They love thy high praises to sing,
And tell of thy beauties of campus and tree
Around which sweet memories cling;
They may wander afar, out of reach of thy name,
Afar, out of sight of thy grove,
But the thought of St. Mary's aye kindles a flame
Of sweet recollections and love.

Beloved St. Mary's! how great is our debt!
Thou hast cared for thy daughters full well;
They can never thy happy instructions forget,
Nor fail of thy virtues to tell.
The love that they feel is a heritage pure;
An experience wholesome and sweet.
Through fast rolling years it will grow and endure;
Be a lamp and a guide to their feet.

May the future unite all the good of thy past
With the best that new knowledge can bring,
Ever onward and upward thy course! To the last
Be thou steadfast in every good thing.
Generations to come may thy fair daughters still
Fondly think on thy halls and thy grove
And carry thy teachings—o'er woodland and hill—
Of earnestness, wisdom, and love.

H. E. H., 1905.

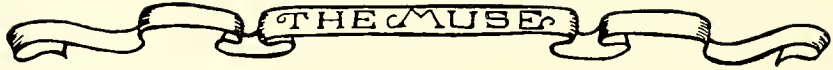

REV. ALDERT SMEDES, D.D.
Founder and First Rector
1810-1877

The Founder

“Under his care, and very much as the result of his intelligence, his firmness and his tender affection for them, there went out from St. Mary’s School, Raleigh, every year a number of young girls who, in culture, in refinement, and still more in elevation of moral and religious character, would compare favorably with the pupils of any other institution in this country. He knew not only how to teach, but how to govern, and to make himself honored as well as loved; and to constrain his pupils to feel that the years spent under his care were at the same time the happiest and most useful of their lives. He has gone to his reward, but his work remains, and will remain from generation to generation.”—Bishop Atkinson on Dr. Smedes, 1877.

“That far-seeing and deep-hearted priest,
St. Mary’s noble founder and wise head.”

History of St. Mary's

St. Mary's School was founded in May, 1842, by the Rev. Aldert Smedes, D.D. It was established as a Church school for girls and was for thirty-six years the chosen work of the founder, of whose life work Bishop Atkinson said: "It is my deliberate judgment that Dr. Smedes accomplished more for the advancement of this Diocese (North Carolina), and for the promotion of the best interests of society in its limits, than any man who ever lived in it."

The present location was first set apart as the site for an Episcopal school in 1832, when influential churchmen, carrying out a plan proposed by Bishop Ives, purchased the present "Grove" as a part of a tract of 160 acres, to be used in establishing a Church school for boys. First the East Rock House, then West Roek House and the Main Building were built for use in this boys' school. But the school, though it started out with great promise, proved unsuccessful and was closed; and the property passed back into private hands.

Dr. Aldert Smedes, a New Yorker by birth and education, had given up parish work on account of a weak throat, and was conducting a successful girls' school in New York City when in 1842 Bishop Ives met him and laid before him the opportunity in his North Carolina diocese. The milder climate attracted Dr. Smedes; he determined on the effort; came to Raleigh with a corps of teachers; gave St. Mary's its name, and threw open its doors in May, 1842.

From the first the school was a success, and for the remainder of his life Dr. Smedes allowed nothing to interrupt the work he had undertaken. During the years of the War between the States St. Mary's was at the same time school and refuge for those driven from their homes. It is a tradition of which her daughters are proud, that during those years of struggle her doors were ever open, and that at one time the family of the beloved President of the Confederacy were sheltered within her walls.

On April 25, 1877, Dr. Smedes died, leaving St. Mary's to the care of his son, Rev. Dr. Bennett Smedes, who had been during his father's lifetime a teacher in the school. This trust was regarded as sacred, and for twenty-two years, in which he spared neither pains nor expense, Dr. Bennett Smedes carried on his father's work for education.

During this eventful half-century, St. Mary's was in the truest sense a Church school, but it was a private enterprise. The work and the responsibility were dependent upon the energy of the Drs. Smedes. Permanence required that the school should have a corporate existence and be established on a surer foundation as a power for good, and in 1897 Dr. Bennett Smedes proposed to the Diocese of North Carolina that the Church should take charge of the school.

The offer was accepted; the Church assumed responsibility, appointed Trustees, purchased the school equipment from Dr. Smedes and the real property from Mr. Cameron; and in the fall of 1897 was granted a charter by the General Assembly.

By this act of the Assembly, and its later amendments, the present corporation—The Trustees of St. Mary's School—consisting of the Bishops of the Church in the Carolinas, and clerical and lay trustees from each diocese or district, was created.

The Board of Trustees, by the terms of the charter, is empowered "to receive and hold lands of any value which may be granted, sold, devised or otherwise conveyed to said corporation, and shall also be capable in law to take, receive and possess all moneys, goods and chattels of any value and to any amount which may be given, sold or bequeathed to or for said corporation."

The Church was without funds for the purchase of the school property, and the Trustees undertook a heavy debt in buying it, but the existence of this debt only slightly retarded the improvements which were made from year to year in the school buildings and equipment, and in May, 1906, the Trustees were able to announce that the purchase debt was lifted and the School was the unencumbered property of the Church in the Carolinas.

Dr. Bennett Smedes, who had long wished for the disposition of St. Mary's that was actually effected, continued as Rector after the Church assumed charge, until his death on February 22, 1899. To succeed him, the Trustees called the Rev. Theodore DuBose Bratton, Rector of the Church of the Advent, Spartanburg, S. C., and a teacher of long training. In September, 1899, Dr. Bratton took charge, and for four years administered the affairs of the School very successfully. In May, 1903, he was chosen Bishop of Mississippi. In September, 1903, the Rev. McNeely DuBose became Rector and the School continued its useful and successful career under his devoted care for four years, until he resigned in May, 1907, to resume parish work. In September, 1907, the Rev. George W. Lay assumed the management.

The Alumnae Association of St. Mary's was established in 1880 and meets annually at Commencement. It has done effective work in aiding the progress of the School and grows yearly stronger and more vigorous.

The Alumnae Chapters meet in their several towns and cities on November 1st, All Saints, which is celebrated as Founders' Day, and on May 12th, the date of the first opening of St. Mary's, which is observed as Alumnae Day.

The most important special work accomplished by the Alumnae Association has been the establishment of the Smedes Memorial Scholarship, to the memory of the Founder and his son, the second Rector of St. Mary's; and the rebuilding of the Chapel. Its present special work is the fund for establishing the Mary Ireddell and the Kate McKimmon Scholarships.

Mrs. Iredell

St. Mary's has been in large measure the life-work of Mrs. Mary (Johnson) Iredell.

As "St. Mary's girl" "before the War" she was inspired with the spirit of Dr. Smedes, and later as teacher and aid to the Drs. Smedes in a multitude of ways, she in her turn imparted the spirit to many of the girls of later years.

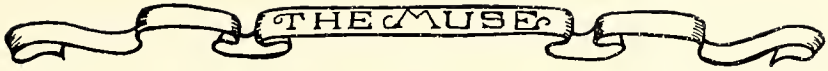

When the Church purchased the School she became Agent of the Trustees and did invaluable work in raising the necessary funds and in building up the School.

She has always been active in Alumnae affairs and on her retirement from the active Presidency of the Alumnae Association in 1911 was made Honorary President for life.

To Miss Katie

To long for truth, to try to realize
The highest that we see—that is the noblest
Living, and that, dear friend, in all these years
Your high sincerity, your love of love,
Your hatred of deceit and scorn of all pretense
Have helped us to desire,
Thinking of you.

We know that love and truth are real,
That God and good are the eternal verities,
Noisy ambition, hard won fame, the wish
For recognition even of worthy work,
Beside these vital truths fade into nothingness.
To do good, and to distribute of your love
And of your strength to them that need, that
Has been your life. And with such service,
God is pleased.

Hail, St. Mary's

In a grove of stately oak trees,
Where the sunlight lies,
Stands St. Mary's true and noble,
'Neath the southern skies.

Far and wide, oh sound her praises,
Chorus full and free,
Hail, St. Mary's, Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail to thee!

Well we love the little chapel,
Ever hold it dear;
Hear the echoes of the music,
Rising soft and clear.

Far and wide, etc.

There the ivy and the roses
climb the old stone wall,
There the sweet, enticing bird-notes
Sound their magic call.

Far and wide, etc.

And the bonds of friendship strengthen
As her beauties charm,
We draw close to Alma Mater,
Trust her guiding arm.

Far and wide, etc.

St. Mary's Hymn

Words by MARGARET CRUIKSHANK

Music by R. BLINN OWEN

Come one and all, your voices lend,
In radiant tones our hymn we raise
To Alma Mater's glory, spend
Our every effort for her praise.
With glowing hearts we view these walls,
To them our girlhood mem'ries cling;
Yon campus green and well-loved halls,
To you our grateful hymn we sing.

Hail, hail, constant, true
Gleams thy light serene!
We, thy loving daughters,
Hail St. Mary's queen!

Dear Alma Mater, praise we bring
For friendships nurtured at your side;
No dearer, sweeter ties will cling
To any hearts than here abide.
Inspired by you our thoughts enfold
A larger aim. In all you've seemed
To guide our steps, our lives to mold
To nobler things we had not dreamed.

Hail, hail, constant, true
Gleams thy light serene!
We, thy loving daughters,
Hail St. Mary's queen!

LASS POEM

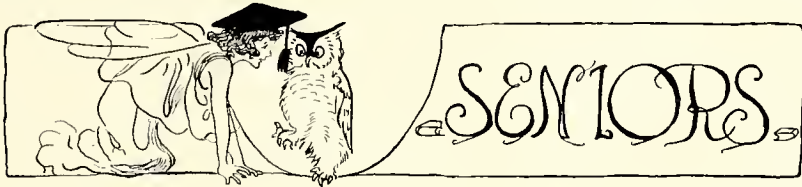

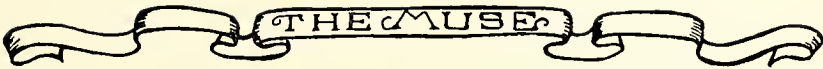

Classmates of Nineteen Fifteen gather here,
For us the fire burns lower, tho never dead,
While we have now one last, long friendly chat,
Remembering where we in the great hall sat
As Freshmen, mutely longing for the judgment day,
And now we'll soon be grad's Commencement Day.

Who would have thought it? Who would frankly say?
But memory races onward, why delay?
Exams! ah, woe is me, midnights perturbed
And we by clamors of Big Ben disturbed.
A picture of Knowledge in his cadaverous den
Looms in the darkness, O most inscrutable of men.

But soon these horrid memories disappear
And others sweeter push them to the rear,
Memories of holidays, Oh! such delight!
And times we've worked and played with all our might;
And friends, for there is nothing else can give
Such joy and zeal and life while we still live.

Class Prophecy, 1915

This tale may seem so wonderful you'll doubtfully receive it—
But when I've shown the evidence—Ah, then you will believe it!

Senior Hall, you'll all remember, is a building large and fair
Where one night I sat and pondered, sorrowful and full of care,
For the Class of 1915 I must write a prophecy.
So I racked my brain and pondered—not a thought would come to me!
Suddenly appeared a phantom, led me, helpless, down the stair
Out into the frosty darkness through a forest cold and bare
To a cavern, dimly lighted, where a figure sat enthroned,
And a throng passed closely 'round him. In my helplessness I moaned,
"Who is that who's seated yonder, in this dark and gloomy place?
Who are these who surge about us, thin of form and sad of face?"
Then the spirit slowly answered—"Over there is Father Time.
These poor youths and woeful maidens are condemned, in prose or rhyme,
For each Class of 1915 to compose a prophecy.
To the home of Time they're summoned with the deepest secrecy,
From each institute of learning, School or College, far or near."
Joyous, then, I hastened forward for his words dispelled my fear.
As I neared his throne the figure turned and kindly looked on me,
Said—"My dear, you're very weary, this much from your face I see,
And I've heard it truly stated on the best authority
That your Class at old St. Mary's has superiority;
So I have a little present which I now will give to you."
In my hands he placed a bundle, then was hidden from my view.
Once out doors I viewed my present by the dim and ghostly light.
Then a Noah's Ark large and gaudy was revealed unto my sight.
Senior Hall it much resembled, only it was made of tin,
And a paper fastened to it—"Key to Specimens within."
From the Ark there stepped two figures, marked "Exhibit A & B"
And upon the page was written "Gladys Yates and Fairley, D.
These stout damsels both are wrestlers famous over all the land—
But they never have decided which one is the master hand."
Allene Thornburgh, Louise Merritt next came skipping into sight
Clad in Scottish dancing costumes—I received an awful fright.
Next appeared two studious maidens, Margaret Mann and Florence Clarke.
And the paper simply stated—"These two girls have reached their mark;

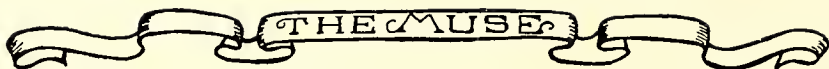

THE MUSE

They have made St. Mary's famous by their brilliant landscapes done,
In the broadest Cubist manner—numerous medals they have won.”
Next appeared two haggard figures with two cats of midnight hue,
Mattie Moye and Margaret Edwards, Ah, I know this can't be true!
But the paper now proclaims you—how can I the shock sustain?
“Old maids now, old maids forever, thus you always will remain.”
Then Maude Hotchkiss minces past me, by her side is Edna Mann.
Rustling flounces, high heeled slippers, parasol and jeweled fan.
Frivolous from pointed slipper to the highest clustered curl—
And the paper thus proclaimed them “Each Somebody's Summer Girl.”
Miss Jones-Williams and Miss Northcott—now you quite embarrass me—
For these two are Congress Women, I'm as honored as can be!
Frances Strong and Sadie Vinson—Ah, so soon to change your name!
Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Adams in exchange for boundless fame!
Carol Collier, Courtney Crowther now appear with Florence Stone.
For a time, the paper tells me, in society they shone.
Now they've gone away to China to reform the heathen there,
Leaving many a youth all hopeless, many a heart in cold despair.
Lanie Hales and Pencie Warren had not very far to roam—
Lanie's Dean in some large College, Pencie keeps an Orphans' Home.
Next appear the strangest figures, Misses King and Carrison—
In a fort in Honolulu there's a lady garrison—
Elizabeth is Major-General, Anna Belle a Captain fine.
In their uniforms all glittering marching in a perfect line.
Edith Mann and Agnes Barton I am told are on the stage,
Now in Vaudeville they're dancing, everywhere they're quite the rage.
Can this now our Helen Peoples and Matilda Hancock be?
Dressed in black, these stately figures, Ah, what words are these I see?
“Tilda is an undertaker, but ere she can do her part,
Helen as a learned doctor vivisects the patient's heart.”
But is this Virginia Bonner? Margaret Bottum I declare!
Riding in that splendid motor—you must be a millionaire!
So, your looks do not belie you—on the page is written plain
“By their wealth know that these damsels have not always toiled in vain.”
Long I waited, all expectant “Now it's certain I'll appear”
But no figure was forthcoming and these words confirmed my fear—
“E. A. Lay has met her finish and her fate was sad to see
For she went away to college; there her classmates did decree
She must be their own class prophet, so she toiled but toiled in vain
Then was overcome by labor, died of fever on the brain!”

Now where she lies let this be written o'er
“She did her best—Angels could do no more.”

E. A. L.

History of the Class of 1915

It's a long way to graduation,
It's a long way to go;
It's a long, long way to graduation—
And no easy road we know.
But cheer up, Nineteen-Fifteens,
"Trust, be, nor fear"
It's a long, long way to graduation—
But we're almost there!

It was a "jolly band of Freshmen" that gathered together in the fall of 1911 and chose for its motto "Trust yourself, be yourself, and fear not," for their colors, scarlet and gray, and for its flower, the poppy. With Margaret Bottum as President, and Mr. Cruikshank as Class Adviser, we resolved to promote class spirit as much as possible at St. Mary's, for ours was the first class to organize in its Freshman year.

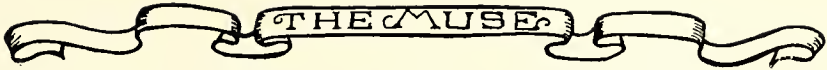

In a play, "The Obstinate Family," given by the class in order to get a start financially, it was discovered that several of the members had dramatic talent, for the play was a great success. Thus encouraged, we gave a party in honor of the Senior Class to which all the School was invited and in which class spirit as exemplified in songs was the chief feature. This was the beginning of the "School Party." In this, as in everything we have done we owe a great deal to our Class Adviser, Mr. Cruikshank. At this party we presented to the School the first of a series of pictures for the school room, a picture of General Lee as a memorial of our class as Freshmen. The activities of the year were closed with a Japanese party to the Juniors, our sister class.

September, 1912, found us not forty-five jolly Freshmen but eighteen wise Sophomores. We missed Margaret Bottum but found Helen Peoples worthy of being the leader of even such wise ones as we were then (for we were wiser then than we are now, even though now we are about to receive our diplomas). Although greatly decreased in numbers our desire "to do something" was not in the least cooled, and that year we gave a party to the Senior Class and the second "School Party" on much the same line as that of the year before, where we noted with pride that "our tiny baby Preps" had grown to be Freshmen. We presented a picture of Washington, for such a wise class should not be forgotten.

How fast September rolls around! We have now reached rather a dizzy height—Juniors—a height which only fifteen out of the forty-five Freshmen were able to attain. Of course we were sorry to lose the others, for every single one was a worthy member of our class, and I doubt if the ones who remained could be called the "survival of the fittest" for all were the fittest to start with.

That year we entertained the Freshmen, (how we pitied them just starting out), and gave the third party to the School. It also fell to our lot as Juniors to continue the Junior-Senior banquet. As you have perhaps already seen nothing gave us more pleasure than entertaining (unless in truth it was being entertained,) and so we proceeded to try to make this banquet the best that had ever been given by any previous Junior Class to any previous Seniors.

At last came the time to make the daisy chain for the graduating class, and with a feeling of delight we heard our names read out at Commencement as promoted to be Seniors with so many added to the list as to make ours the largest class ever to graduate at St. Mary's.

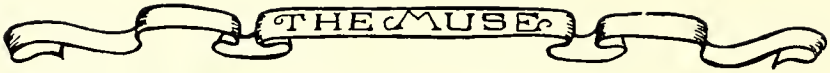

Dignified Seniors! How we have striven for that title. Helen Peoples was again chosen President in nineteen fourteen and we began our career as Seniors. How we wish for some of the knowledge we had as Sophomores! How we envy, rather than pity the Freshmen just starting out. Yet it is undeniably nice to have the privileges of Seniors. The party given to us by the Sophomore Class was an occasion of great pleasure and we guarantee that no Senior of 1915 however far she may roam will ever forget the dinner given by the "Little Men." The Juniors almost surpassed us in the banquet they gave in our honor, and our final "School Party" continued our past successes. We have had many surprises during our four years experience of School life here (including those shocks from the Faculty) but the most surprising event of all was when we heard that one of the members of the class was bestowing her affections elsewhere than on ourselves. We wish her every happiness. With most classes it is a source of great agitation as to who will be the first to get married. From this we have been preserved!

As we look back on the four happy years spent at St. Mary's, upon our friends and teachers, we realize more than ever before how much we owe to our Alma Mater, and it is with a feeling of love and loyalty to her that we say good-bye, each to go her separate way of life.

FRANCES LAMBERT STRONG.

Our years of bliss are almost done—
(Oh we are a jolly, good class!)
We've played and we've worked—
It's been lots of fun
(Oh we are a jolly good class!)
Nineteen Fifteen—
Ah, that is the year for Seniors!
Nineteen Fifteen—
(Oh we are a jolly good class!)

An Elfin Dance

ANNIE SUTTON CAMERON, '16

The wind came over the wild wet moor
Singing the song of night,
And the ruffled owl 'neath the misty moon
Woke from his sleep at its wild, weird tune
And turned in his laggard flight.

Forth to the moor creeps the elfin band
From under the frowning hill,
To circle in dances wild and strange
'Neath the lowering sky on the upland range
To this music wild and shrill.

They skip with light and airy grace
Under the shimmering moon,
And over the moor their flying feet
Through the sparkling dew keep rhythmic beat
To the weird wind's mystic tune.

But the wind drops now to a monotone,
A cloud sails over the moon,
And the flying feet on the moor grow still,
And the elves creep back 'neath the frowning hill,
And the moor lies dark and lone.

Inter-Society Debates

The Epsilon Alpha Pi and the Sigma Lambda Literary Societies were organized in 1900, and in 1902 the first annual Inter-society Debate was held between them. These debates became a feature of the work of the societies and were held annually each spring. During the twelve years ending in 1913, the Sigma Lambda Society won eight debates and the Epsilon Alpha Pi Society four.

In 1913 the Alpha Rho was organized as a third society and in order to give it a place in the debating arrangement a series of three debates was substituted for the single debate. Each Society debates each of the other two, with different debaters in each debate.

In 1914 in the first series Alpha Rho won from both of the older Societies and Epsilon Alpha Pi defeated Sigma Lambda. In 1915, in the second series, Epsilon Alpha Pi won both debates and Sigma Lambda defeated Alpha Rho.

THE "COLONIAL BALL," IN THE PARLOR, FEBRUARY 6, 1915

“The Hero as Time Keeper”

(With apologies to Thomas Carlyle)

KATHERINE WIMBERLY BOURNE, '16

Where would the world be if there was no Hero of Time? The Hero as God, the Hero as Prophet, the Hero as Priest have all passed away, but the Hero of Time will never pass away. He was the first to exist, and will last through Eternity. Unknowingly, great, strong men worship him, have worshiped him throughout all the ages. He is a leader, a true and noble leader. With unerring footsteps he goes on, when all else ceases to move. He may even be called an outcast, a martyr, battling against the world, yet giving his life to it. At night when only wolves prowl, he marches on, nor does he retire to a lair in the day time. He smiles tolerantly at youth's pranks, talks gravely to middle age, and wisely to the old.

The truest genius, the great man, in this crude, civilized Twentieth Century is Big Ben. As prophet, priest and king he stands. Some people say that he is false, insincere, that he does not mark the minutes correctly, and thus betrays the trust placed in him. How patiently he bears his burdens, and how patiently and uncomplainingly takes the blame for every tardy mark, and still goes unswervingly on his way.

For three years Big Ben lived a quiet, unpretentious life in a little cottage. He did not care for fame, but was contented to do his humble duty with an occasional loud alarm. In this cottage a young boy followed his advice, and was never late to work; a school teacher had but to glance at him for her instructions; and a true hero worshiper, the cook, placed three steaming hot meals on the table at exactly the right moment because she trusted him. In this quiet seclusion he was contented to live, until with his seeing eye he saw that he had other work to do. Then, as always, with his calm, open brow, his round, friendly face, he went where he was most needed. To reach this higher position he had to undergo every degrading indignity, was ruthlessly packed into a trunk, but for all the jolting of the rough journey, he kept a smooth face, held fast to his principles, and was the first with his musical tick to welcome the two disheartened school girls to the Crow's Nest. There he still lives, sending terror into their hearts by his loud proclamations at unearthly hours, as is his appointed duty. A true Hero, he stands watch by the bed of two slumbering girls through the silent night, until it is his duty to bring them, not gently, not slowly, but with an energetic start out of the fairy land of sleep, back to the land of Reality and Facts. Then, when they are in danger of slipping back into that enchanting, luring land, he steadily, loudly ticks onward, onward, until their very spirits, led on by the strength of this man, are obliged to rise and follow where he points.

It is true that at times he stops, but he, even though an advocate of Eternity, promised no one to go on forever. He, a leader in the chaotic space of time, has learned the value of Silence, and so gains the strength which makes him the great Hero of today.

A Riddick(ulous) Lay

There was a maiden most Divine
Her name was Rose Budd Smith,
Her hair like Gold did Fairley shine,
Her skin was White, her eyes were Brown,
And many a Mam to her had sworn
She was a Rose without a Thorn.

But Sparks of Hope in Aiken hearts
Were turned to lifeless Coles,
For Blount to her were cupid's darts.
"Watt Merritt Cann there be in you?"
Said she, "No Boone I Cann bestow."
Wright Hart-Leslie she Badham go."

A Huske(y) Cooke rides up the Hill,
A Welsh Mann Bray(ve) is he,
He Stammers out no vain (a)Peele,
She in a (t)Rice is Bourne away.
"My Stone(y) Hart I yield to you,
My King of Hearts, Bartholomew."

Life in Senior Hall

If ever you live in Senior Hall
You'll know the reason why
The Wings and the Rocks and all the rest
Seem very, very dry.

CHORUS:

Dear Senior Hall, where the preplets call,
And the home of Binks and Pete;
'Tis the acme of bliss
At St. Mary's, I wis,
Exceedingly hard to beat.

"DIBS"

There is music sweet from the Practice Halls
And the songs of a bird or two,
While Baby Crook sings a song to the dawn
The very best he can do.

—Chorus.

Then there're two nice swings upon the porch,
The very thing for a "crush,"
Which helps with our popularity
So that life is one mad rush.

—Chorus.

The lights burn on until half-past ten,
In which we are highly blest,
Though the one superlative use of this
Is the envy of the rest.

—Chorus.

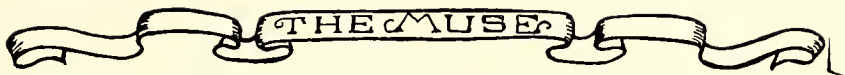

There are ever so many more things to tell
Of the life in Senior Hall
But surely you know from the things we've said
It's the greatest place of all.

—Chorus.

Good Bye, School, We're Through!

(A Song of Graduation Day.)

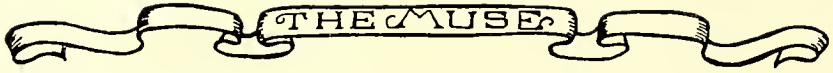

(After "Good Bye, Girls," from "Chin Chin.")

We're the happiest girls in all the realm of schooldom,
We feel as though we'd triumphed over fate,
We've reached a goal we've ever sought,
A day of which we've ever thought,
That wondrous day on which we graduate.
Of course we've not had only sun and flowers,
But storms and clouds have braced us in the line,
Like every other girl we've wasted hours,
But now all's done—the future looks benign.
And yet we say with heartfelt sigh
For the happy days of the years gone by:

Good-bye, School, we're through,
Dear School, where we have met,
We say good-bye to you
With very real regret.
Our day of jubilation
Is full of fascination,
But we'll e'er to you be true;
Good-bye, School,
Good-bye, School, we're through.

We've often read in poems and romances
That some day in some way, if we but wait,
The thing we seek both far and wide—
The thing for which we've ever sighed—
Will come to us—'tis so decreed by fate.
And so it's all come true as in a story,
Commencement morning with its golden sun
Has risen upon our sight in all its glory,
For us there'll never be such other one.
And yet we say with heartfelt sigh
For the happy days of the years gone by:
Good-bye, School, we're through, etc.

Appreciation

(To the tune of Sari Waltz)

The time is near for us to graduate,
So listen here:
We've lots and lots we hold most dear
To tell before too late;
There're certain ones we want it known
Who've helped us Oh! so much;
To them for pranks we must atone,
For there were many such.

Among them there is one with twinkling eyes
Full of surprise;
And one who's tallest of them all
Who's pow'ful, pow'ful tall;
And one who's wise—for in his size
This wondrous secret lies;
And one whose fun like a cyclone—
Who else but Mr. Stone?

There're many others dear to us, whom thank
We simply must;
Who are they but the girls themselves
Who've been so sweet to us?
So now we thank you, one and all,
For favors great and small;
Our love for you we surely know
Will ever, ever grow.

We hate to leave you, best of schools,
For all your many rules;
We like to feel your guiding hand
Stretched forth in wise command.
Raise your voices loud and strong,
Sing her praises long.
School life is the sweetest thing;
St. Mary's let us sing.

*Dear friends, our book is ended,
We must close its leaves at last.
May it be a mute reminder
Of the happy days we've passed;
Be a bond of love and friendship,
And to others who may read
May it be a pleasant glimpse into
The happy life we lead.*
